- Training and Integration of several new volunteer Newscasters

- Ability to provide more timely updates through new technology added to the stations' broadcast chain. Use of computer or phone to directly send in reports live to air in times of emergency or weather warnings.

Update:
News Dir
Craig Foster

- Introduction and assimilation of locally generated News content (Community Report Alex Wright and Brenda Little)
- Audio and visual submission for the nation-wide Local Journalism Initiative

The Local Journalism Initiative

- First, relaying up to the minute news
- Some of the pieces would include results of Council meetings and developments from committees. Example - report given by Elis Zeigler at the Committee of the Whole about the transitional housing project Leeward House.
- Second, is the Local Journalism Initiative where we create reports for the national digital news platform Frequency.ca. formerly Canada Info.
- Extensive reports include a written piece, photos, sound bites and a more lengthy audio report. For example - report on the warming centre at H.O.P.E. A place for people to stay the night is a first for PEC.

Community, Environment

Over fifty protesters converged on the steps of Picton's Shire Hall on Thursday, protesting what they called a "secret deal" between Prince Edward County and the local shipping terminal.

Protesters chanted "no secret deals" in reference to an arrangement struck between Picton Terminals and the County, of which the details have yet to be made public.

Picton Terminals has faced a string of bylaw infractions over the past few years, to the point where the county negotiated an agreement on some of the proposed expansion ideas for the terminals.

One of the elements being questioned by residents is a large storage of shipping containers, and the creation of what local MP Ryan Williams referred to as an "industrial hub."

Mayor Steve Ferguson addressed the protesters, saying while he couldn't share the details of the meeting with lawyers, he did say an industrial hub does not fit his vision of Prince Edward County.

A. County FM Bridges the Distance

- The County is an island community of 25,000 people. A truly unique place spread out over 1,100 square kilometers of farmers' fields, sandy beaches, dense forests and quaint towns and hamlets.
- County FM exists to connect us as individuals and the community at large. We do that through:
 - A broad range of musical genres, with local homegrown talent
 - Local news, weather and sports
 - Thought-provoking current events programming that covers all things County
- Our ongoing challenge is that advertising only covers two thirds of all our expenses, so we're very dependent on donations to stay on air.
- So during Radiothon week this year, please help bridge that funding gap with a donation so we can keep Connecting the County.

PRINCE EDWARD COUNTY RADIO CORPORATION

FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

AS AT AUGUST 31, 2023

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the Board of Directors
Prince Edward County Radio Corporation

Report on the Audit of the Financial Statements

Qualified Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of Prince Edward County Radio Corporation (the Corporation), which comprise the statement of financial position as at August 31, 2023, and the statements of net assets, operations and cash flows for the year then ended, and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In our opinion, except for the possible effects of the matter described in the Basis for Qualified Opinion section of our report, the accompanying financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Corporation as at August 31, 2023, and its results of operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations.

Basis for Qualified Opinion

In common with many not-for-profit organizations, the Corporation derives revenue from donations, the completeness of which is not susceptible of satisfactory audit verification. Accordingly, our verification of these revenues was limited to the amounts recorded in the records of the Corporation and we were not able to determine whether, as at and for the years ended August 31, 2023 and August 31, 2022, any adjustments might be necessary to donations revenue, excess of revenues over expenditures and net assets.

We conducted our audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Corporation in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements in Canada and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our qualified opinion.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with Canadian accounting standards for not-for-profit organizations and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing these financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Corporation's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Corporation, or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance are responsible for overseeing the Corporation's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Corporation's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Corporation's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Corporation to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.
